FEDERAL BUILDING SITE.

Special Agent Taylor is to be congratulated on the good judgment shown in the selection of a site for the Federal building, for which it is hoped Congress will appropriate next winter.

This paper has urged the Opera House site on account of its proximity to Territorial Government buildings, and the adaptability of that site to an artistic scheme. The lot between Hotel and King streets is, however, a happy compromise between those in favor of the more distant locations, and the ardent advocates of the Post Office remaining where it is. When Bishop street is cut through, as it will be, the public building lot will add to the convenience of all classes. The location is central and a building placed there will not tend to upset real estate values, as might be the case in event of a marked departure from the present business center.

Since this site has been selected by the officer whose special business is to recommend to the department, it seems that any attempt to block this plan will serve only to delay the construction of the building.

No progressive citizen will stand in the way of a Federal building for this city just because his particular idea or hobby has not been followed in the selection of the site. Such work is left to cranks and knackers.

KUHIO'S SUCCESS.

Honolulu could well afford to have had the band out to greet Delegate Kuhio when he returned from Washington Friday forenoon.

That the implements of joy were occupied in welcoming the largest excursion party that ever crossed the Pacific, is by no means an indication of a lack of appreciation on the part of the Delegate's fellow-citizens.

The results for Hawaii during the session of Congress just closed have been grand. The Federal Government has apparently become fully aroused to the importance of these islands and their value, if properly managed, in time of possible war. The war scare may have had something to do with the liberality of the appropriating authority, but Congressmen would never have been prepared to get quickly had not the Delegate and those aiding him kept up an incessant campaign for Hawaii.

Delegate Kuhio has said that his policy is to make friends for Hawaii. His policy is sound. He is to be congratulated on his success in carrying this far with such splendid results to the Territory of Hawaii and the American nation.

THE CURFEW BILL.

Representative Sheldon of Kanai, who has introduced more bills into the Legislature than any other member, has succeeded in getting one bill before the Governor which ought not to become a law in its harsh form.

A TOAST TO ST. PATRICK

St. Patrick was a gentleman who, through strategy and stealth, drove all the snakes from Ireland, there's a bumper to his health. The good and lucky bumpers, let us join ourselves, and then forget the good St. Patrick. And see the snakes again.

This act is the earliest measure, in the main it is good and is undoubtedly meant to be introduced to benefit the children. That one of its provisions is decidedly bad and is liable to do much more harm than the entire bill, if it becomes a law, can do good.

Sheldon's bill, as passed by the House, requires children of school age to be off the streets and public highways by 7 o'clock at night, under penalty of arrest by the police and a fine of $5, and imprisonment in the reformatory for a period of ten days. The bill originally said nothing about the reform school, and in that shape would have meant incarceration in the common jail.

The general intent of the bill is good. The keeping of children off the streets at night would undoubtedly prevent many of them going wrong. Since the curfew law has been enforced in Honolulu there have been decidedly fewer reports of petty thievery and similar wrongdoing. A boy or girl who is required to stay home at night except in unusual circumstances is not exposed to the bad influences that are liable to lead to the undoing of those who roam the streets.

But, after all, if a child does run the streets at night, it is rarely the child who is responsible. The parents are the ones to blame. There is too much of a tendency in this Territory for parents to shift the responsibility for their children onto the police. Instead of looking after their own offspring, showing them what they should and should not do, they ask the law to step in and do the work. No law can take the place of the father or mother.

And since it is the parents who are to blame, it does not seem exactly the square thing to punish the child for the transgression of the law.

A fine of $5, in such a case, is, as a general thing, a farce, for there are very few children of school age who have that amount of money. And few of the kind of parents whose children would be most liable to roam the streets can put up $5, easily.

The worst feature of the bill, however, is the provision regarding confinement in the reformatory.

Any law that provides for the imprisonment of a child, except in rare cases or where the offense is of more than ordinary gravity, is a law that

Diversified Industry Bill Passes The Third Reading

21st Day—Forenoon Session.

Castro's bill for the encouragement of diversified industries created a lively debate in the House this morning when it came up for third reading. The bill provides for the exemption from taxes for five years from Jan. 1, 1936, of all property used in the production of tobacco, rubber, oak, manila hemp, sunnaveira, salomona hemp and cacao. But such exemption shall be allowed only to any person, firm or corporation in respect to land in actual cultivation not exceeding 20 acres in the case of any one holding, or to the extent of 20 acres where any holding exceeds 20 acres.

Rice vigorously opposed the measure on the ground that it would not be fair to the rubber people, who, under promise of exemption, have planted large acreages.

Castro defended his bill, declaring that any corporation which is rich enough to take up thousands of acres of land is rich enough to pay taxes.

Castro made a good speech, but Rice's motion to table was carried, several members saying "Kanihau" when their names were called on the vote.

That Lava Road

Kanihau's lava road again bobbed up in the House this morning, and this time the Kohala Representative got what he has been after.

But he didn't get it on his own bill. The bill was identical with the one introduced by him, but it was a Senate Bill, No. 52.

When the bill came up for third reading, Kaleiopa asked that the Public Lands Committee be excused from voting on the bill. Asked as to his reason for the request, he said they had already recommended the tabling of a similar bill, but had been at upon. His request was not granted, and the bill went through, 22 to 4.

THE OLDEST MAN IN AMERICA

Escaped the Terrors of Many Winters By Using Pe-ru-na.

"I Attribute my Extreme Old Age to the Use of Pe-ru-na."

In speaking of his good health and extreme old age, Mr. Brock says: "After a man has lived in the world as long as I have, he ought to have found out a great many things by experience. I think I have done so."

"One of the things I have found out to my entire satisfaction is the proper thing for ailments that are due directly to the effects of the climate. For 117 years I have withstood the changeable climate of the United States."

"I have always been a very healthy man, but, of course, subject to the ailments which are due to sudden changes in the climate and temperature. During my long life I have known a great many remedies for coughs, colds and diarrhoea."

"As for Dr. Hartman's remedy, Peruna, I have found it to be the best, if not the only, reliable remedy for these affections. It has been my standby for many years, and I attribute my good health and extreme old age to this remedy."

"It exactly meets all my requirements. It protects me from the evil effects of sudden changes; it keeps me in good appetite; it gives me strength; it keeps my blood in good circulation. I have come to rely upon it almost entirely for the many little things for which I need medicine."

"When epidemics of la grippe first began to make their appearance in this country I was a sufferer from this disease."

"I had several long sieges with the grip. At first I did not know that Peruna was a remedy for this disease. When I heard that la grippe was epidemic catarrh, I tried Peruna for la grippe and found it to be just the thing."

In a later letter, Mr. Brock writes: "I am well and feeling as well as I have for years. The only thing that bothers me is my sight. If I could see better I could walk all over the farm, and it would do me good. I would not be without Peruna."

Yours truly,
Isaac Brock.

When old age comes, it brings with it catarrhal diseases. Systemic catarrh is almost universal in old people. This explains why Peruna has become so indispensable to many old people.

Mr. Isaac Brock, 117 Years Old Last Birthday.

ISAAC BROCK, a citizen of McLennan county, Texas, has lived for 117 years. For many years he resided at Bosque Falls, eighteen miles west of Waco, but now lives with his son-in-law at Valley Mills, Texas.

Some time ago, by request, Uncle Isaac came to Waco and sat for his picture, holding in his hand a stick cut from the grave of General Andrew Jackson. Mr. Brock is a dignified old gentleman, showing few signs of decrepitude. His family Bible is still preserved, and it shows that the date of his birth was written 117 years ago.

For special directions everyone should read "The Ills of Life," a copy of which surrounds each bottle. Peruna is for sale by the following druggists and will supply the retail trade in Honolulu, Hawaii: Benson, Smith & Co., Hobron Drug Co., Honolulu, Hawaii.

end June 30, 1935. Referred to the Committee of the Whole.

House Bill 134, relative to the management of the Board of Health, was referred to the Health Committee.

House Bill 132, providing for the salary or compensation to be paid to deputy tax assessors and collectors, was referred to the Finance Committee.

Representative Joseph presented a petition signed by taxpayers of Maui, praying that $20,000 be provided for opening a road 20 feet wide, commencing from Wailuani, Keane, Maui, along the Nahiku beach. Passed first reading and was referred to the Lands Committee.
